Standard Participation Contribution Rates

From 1st November 2025, contribution rates will be determined by your income and assets, and will vary depending on the type and amount of services you receive.

An income and asset assessment – similar to the Age Pension means test – will be used to calculate your contribution rate. People receiving the Age Pension or holding a Commonwealth Seniors Health Care will generally pay lower contributions than self-funded retirees.

Your contribution rate will depend on the type of Support at Home service you access:

- Everyday Living Supports: Services such as house cleaning, gardening, and home maintenance will attract the highest contribution rates.
- Independent Living Supports: Services that help maintain your independence, such as personal care or respite, will attract moderate contribution rates. Many of these services play an important role in helping people stay well and avoid hospital or residential aged care.
- Clinical Care Services: You will not be required to contribute for clinical care services, such as nursing, physiotherapy, or other allied health support. The Australian Government will cover all clinical care costs.

Age Pension Status	Everyday Living Supports	Independence Living Supports	Clinical Care Services
Full pensioner	17.5%	5%	0%
Part pensioner &amp; eligible for Commonwealth Seniors Health Card	17.5% - 80% (depending on income & assets)	5% - 50% (depending on income & assets)	0%
Self-funded retiree	80%	50%	0%
