

I DIDN'T KNOW WHO TO TURN TO --- THEN I FOUND ARCARE

Our relationship-focused approach to celebrating and supporting old age is not only unique to Arcare, it's also considered by aged care experts globally to be at the forefront of elder-care.

This innovative approach puts the development and deepening of relationships between residents, clients, family and staff above all else. Each of these relationships is important and valued, and this is why we're committed to nurturing the physical, emotional and spiritual well-being of everyone involved.

One of the most important ways of supporting the development of these relationships is our internationally recognised Dedicated Staff Assignment. This involves all staff committing to work regular shifts with exactly the same small group of residents every time they come to work - so you will always know who will be supporting you or your loved one. This continuity allows for deep and trusting relationships to develop between residents, staff and families.
